

Barb Flack

"I have a true passion for working with clay-both on the wheel and hand building."

Barb has been an avid potter for almost four decades. A retired Elementary Schoolteacher from Casper, Wyoming, she began taking ceramic lessons at a local community college in the mid 1980's. Fast forward a couple of years and her hobby had turned into a passion, her passion into a cottage business. To accommodate her newly formed love of clay, she even had to add on to their home for an art studio.

Barb was a snowbird dividing her time between Sun City West and Casper for 24 years and is now a full-time resident of Arizona.
